SHERIFF'S SALE.

IN SEVENTH JUDICIAL DISTRICT COURT of the State of Nevada in and for Washoe county, E. Dinklespiel plaintiff vs. C. A. Loomis and A. J. Loomis defendants.
Under and by virtue of an order of sale and decree of foreclosure issued out of the District Court of the Seventh Judicial District of the State of Nevada held in and for Washoe county on the fourteenth day of May, A. D. 1883, in the above entitled action wherein the above named plaintiff, E. Dinklespiel, obtained judgment and decree against C. A. Loomis and A. Loomis, defendants, on the 11th day of May, A. D. 1883, which said decree is recorded in judgment Book C, of said Court, at pages 80, 81, 82, 83, I am commanded to sell all that certain piece, parcel or lots of land situated in the Western Addition to the town of Reno, Washoe county, State of Nevada, to wit: That certain eastern part of lots 9, in block C, fronting Fifth street, and extending back on said lot one hundred and forty feet and that dwelling house thereon erected and outhouses and improvements, together with all and singular, the tenements, accretments and appurtenances thereunto in anywise belonging and appertaining.

Public notice is hereby given that on Wednesday, the sixth day of June, A. D. 1883, between the hours of nine in the morning and five in the afternoon, to-wit: at twelve o'clock noon of that day in front of the Court House of the above Court, at Reno, Washoe county, State of Nevada, I will in obedience to said order of sale and decree of foreclosure, sell the above-described property or so much thereof as may be necessary to satisfy plaintiff's judgment, with interest thereon and costs, to the highest and best bidder for gold coin of the United States.
J. F. EMMITT, Sheriff.

YOUNG MEN.

WHO may be suffering from the effect of youthful follies or indiscretions, will do well to avail themselves of this, the greatest boon ever laid at the altar of suffering humanity. Dr. Spinney will guarantee to forfeit $500 for every case of Seminal Weakness or private disease of any kind or character which he undertakes and fails to cure.

MIDDLE-AGED MEN.

There are many at the age of thirty to sixty, who are troubled with too frequent evacuations of the bladder, often accompanied by a slight smarting or burning sensation, and a weakening of the system in a manner the patient cannot account for. On examining the urinary deposits aropy sediment will often be found, and sometimes small particles of albumen will appear, the color will be a thin milky hue, again changing to a dark and torpid appearance. There are many men who die of this difficulty, ignorant of the cause, which is the second stage of seminal weakness. Dr. S. will guarantee a perfect cure in all such cases, and a healthy restoration to the genito-urinary organs.

Office hours—10 to 4 and 6 to 8. Sundays from 10 to 11 A. M. Consultation free. Thorough examination and advice, $5.

THE SAVINGS BANK CASES.

While the discussion of this vexed question might happily be allowed to close in the sonorous verdict of the Anglo Saxon Jury, and the selfish passions asserting themselves in the discussions be allowed to sleep, still in view of the result just reached, a calm resume, necessarily brief, however, will fairly illustrate the position taken by us at the time of the failure of the bank which position is now, after almost three years of diligent search and inquiry into the books and affairs of the bank, demonstrated beyond all controversy to be the correct one. Our readers will remember that we claimed at the time of the failure, that whatever the causes were that led up to the closing of the bank's doors, the facts could never warrant a graver charge against the officers than lack of experience and mismanagement. We have, therefore, not favored these prosecutions, not deeming them necessary or beneficial. The losses entailed by the failure of the bank were grievous and hard to be borne. May similar ones never fall on our community again. The failure of the bank, as we have repeatedly said before, resulted not from any criminal or immoral diversion of its funds, but from a shrinkage of values and unskillful and inexperienced management. The 24th of June, 1890, found the bank in such position that it would be unable in regular course of business to pay its debts or any considerable proportion thereof if then demanded. A demand was pressing from a San Francisco bank and could be no longer postponed, and other demands would have been precipitated thereby. The bank had certain properties, moneys and securities on hand. It owed James Kinkead, now deceased, a large sum of money—some $16,500. It owed L. L. Crockett $8,200. There is no doubt to be entertained of the actual existence of these debts and their bona fide character. The Manager of the bank elected to pay these two creditors with the property on hand and did no more. It took all the property to pay these two debts. There is still a balance due these two creditors. In the case of Mr. Kinkead nearly $1,000; in the case of Mr. Crockett it is somewhat over $1,000. These debts due to Kinkead and Crockett represented actual money that had gone into the vault of the bank within a few weeks. Their money had either gone to the benefit of other creditors of the bank, and so professed such other creditors, or it remained in the vault it was their own money and they had a right to draw it. The law gave Mr. Jas. H. Kinkead, the manager, the legal right to pay these debts and the law and the commercial usages in this State sanction it as moral and upright. The payment of these creditors constituted a preference of creditors and nothing more. The attachment law of our State is contrived for the purpose of giving such preference, and no other, office or object. When the failing circumstances of the bank became known, Mr. Schooling, a reputable citizen of our town, levied the first attachment and secured his money. He preferred himself to all others who attached, and to all those who did not attach. Is any criminality or grasping immorality imputed to Mr. Schooling? He only availed himself of the provisions of our statutes, and followed commercial usage. If any casuist can demonstrate a difference in morals between the Manager paying Mr. Schooling and thus preferring him, or Mr. Schooling attaching and thus preferring himself, let him illumine the world. Since the failure of the bank we have been censured for upholding the integrity of the Manager, or rather we have been censured for refusing to join in the popular howl against him. From a long intimate acquaintance and personal knowledge of his character, we believed then as we do now that not one dollar of the bank's money ever was diverted to his use or benefit and the investigation before the Court and jury proves beyond all controversy that we were right in our course. Knowing that it would only be taxing the people for no good or beneficial end we objected to the expenditure of the public money to gratify the personal spleen of a few, and we cannot wholly excuse our County Commissioners (Mr. Fugus excepted), for lavishly expending the county's money in the prosecution of cases which had already been decided by our own Courts to be right, civilly and must therefore necessarily lack the elements which go to make up a crime.

Director of the Mint Burchard is engaged in the revision of the statistics of bullion product of California and the Territories. Some time will elapse before the work is completed. In round numbers he estimates the value of the product of California last year at $17,000,000.

A BAD DEMOCRATIC PLANK.

The San Francisco Call, a paper with Democratic leanings, is out in opposition to the favorite Democratic theory of "a tariff for revenue only." Its utterances are worthy of careful consideration, and are as follows:

A Democratic contemporary prints with approval the plank in the Democratic platform of 1840 which refers to the tariff, as follows:

Resolved, That justice and sound policy forbid the federal government to foster one branch of industry to the detriment of another, or to cherish the interests of one portion to the injury of another portion of our common country; and

Resolved, further, That it is the duty of every branch of the government to enforce and practice the most rigid economy in conducting our public affairs, and that no more revenue ought to be raised than is required to defray the necessary expenses of the government.

The Democratic party was badly beaten that year, and there is very little doubt that a similar fate in 1884 will follow the adoption of a similar plank in the platform to be constructed for the campaign of that year. Forty years of experience have served to convince the mass of the people that a reasonable protective tariff which enables our workshops to compete with those of Europe for our own markets does not foster one industry at the expense of another. A protective tariff simply fosters industries which from the nature of things could not be carried on in this country on even terms with foreign competition. When the protective tariff policy was first adopted we had an immense territory and comparatively few people. We had little capital except our land, and very little skilled labor. We had no reputation, even among home consumers, as a manufacturing people. It took almost a generation to demonstrate that American cottons were as good as English at the same price and variety. Capital could not be obtained for manufacturing purposes under those conditions. Something had to be done to give American goods an advantage in the home market. The tariff was that something, and under it great manufacturing cities and towns have been built up, which afford the farmer a reliable market for all his products. Real estate has advanced at least 100 per cent. on the figures it could have reached if we had remained simply an agricultural people, raising raw products for Europe to turn into expensive fabrics. In 1840 a party might possibly be pardoned for adopting such a plank as that printed above, but not in 1884. Then the working of a protective tariff was a problem concerning which we had theories, but few facts. Now we know how it works. The country is dotted with evidence of its beneficence. From being producers of raw material we have become manufacturing people as well. We turn our raw material into finished goods, and retain the profits of the work. Some manufacturers have undoubtedly made immense profits. Combinations have been formed to keep domestic goods at importers' prices. Labor has not always got its fair share of the profits of the joint products of labor and capital. But the people will not tear down the edifice because a cornice is cracked. The abuses of the system can be remedied without an attack upon the system itself. The assumption that a protective tariff cherishes the interests of one portion of our common country to the injury of another portion is untenable in the light of experience. It simply cherishes an interest which any and all portions of the country can engage in. The production of wheat, cotton, butter, cheese, etc., was not protected to the same extent, for the very good reason that these products did not need protection. Our immense territory gives us an advantage in these agricultural products similar to those enjoyed by Europe in the manufacture of raw material into fabrics. Europe cries out against our cheap grain and our cheap meats. England would put a tariff on our agricultural products if they were not needed to feed her people.

A Potential Distributor of Patronage.

There was one outgoing Senator who is an exception to all the rules of patronage—William Pitt Kellogg of Louisiana—but he only sits from the Senate to the House, and in either body he is regarded by the administration as the Republican party of Louisiana. The duties of the Republican party in Louisiana, even in the disposition of patronage, are quite onerous when concentrated in one man, and William Pitt Kellogg, although he missed a few votes in the closing month of the season, was the busiest man in Washington. Mr. Kellogg during the last thirty days, has filled 340 offices in Louisiana. It happened that the vacancies for nearly all the federal offices occurred at this time, and Mr. Kellogg has had the disposal of them for four years to come, reaching two years into the next administration, be it Republican or Democratic. He is the most potential distributor of patronage next to the President of the United States.

BAKED EGGS.—Butter a clean smooth saucepan, break as many eggs as will be needed into a saucepan, one by one, then slip into the dish. No broken yolk allowed, nor must they crowd so as to risk breaking the yolk after put in. Put a small piece of butter on each, and sprinkle with pepper and salt. Set into a heated oven and bake till the whites are set. If the oven is rightly heated it will take but a few minutes, and this way of cooking is far more delicate than to fry eggs.

PRUNE WHIP.—Sweeten to taste and stew three-quarters of a pound of prunes; when perfectly cold add the whites of four eggs beaten stiff; stir all of this together till light, put in a dish and bake twenty minutes; when cold serve in a larger dish and cover with good cream.

The best known remedy for coughs and colds is the Infalible Cough Mixture prepared by Osburn & Shoemaker.

LITTLE WORRIES.

We Can Escape Elephants, But Gnats, Never.

Life is full of little worries, such for instance as:
Buying candy that is stale.
Licking a stamp that has no mutilage on it.
Getting hold of the dry lighter, in a cigar store.
Throwing away theater seat checks and keeping car tickets in their stead.
Trying to remember the name of the lady before you.
Clerks who snub you if you don't buy.
Cat concerts.
Howling dogs.
Newspaper not left at your door.
A sick man telling you all his complaints.
Conundrums.
Bottomless Pocket.
Dry Inkstand.
An oh! Dear; sort of a female.
People who always say yes.
Buying a thing at auction, only to see it new at less price in another place.
Stale eggs in omelet.
Mr. Smith, who thinks Mr. Smith the greatest man on earth.
Colder leaving no card or name.
Five minutes too late for excursion boat.
Wet, when you want it dry.
Neck-tie too short to bow.
Collar button down trouser leg.
A screeching vocalist next door.
An old, old pun revamped.
Raspberry seed between false teeth and roof of mouth, at table.
A girl always hinting ice cream.
Over-shoes stuck in the mud.
Flea on your back while in church.
Iceberg feet.
Looking for rooms.
Trying to remember where you left your cane.
Corns.
Crowded car.
Smell of greasy Chinamen.
Parlor album, with her sisters and her cousins and her aunts.
Please write in album.
An over-full ash-barrel.
No towel.
The man who thinks he knows you.
Smelling hartshorn for camphor.
Railway eating house pie.
Doctor bill.
Thinking of the end of it all.

A Good Sleeper.

A Newton (Conn.) dispatch of the 16th says:

Sherman W. Platt, a member of a much-respected family, has slept since Christmas, and has not spoken a word. He acts mechanically twice a day, and very little. He had malarial fever and a sunstroke last Fall, and was to have been married in the Spring, but he does not recognize his intended.

BETTER BISCUIT.—Rub a quarter of a pound of butter into one and a half pounds of flour, add half a teaspoonful of salt and one pint of milk and one-half teaspoonful bicarbonate of soda, dissolved in a little hot water; knead it thoroughly; then roll out into sheets a quarter of an inch thick; cut into biscuits, prick with a fork and bake in a moderate oven.

CORN BREAD.—Two cups sour milk, three-quarters of a cup of molasses, two cups of corn meal, one and one-half cups of white flour, small tablespoonful of soda, dissolved in sour milk, salt; steam three hours; to be eaten hot. Slice and steam when you wish to warm it.

TOWN AND COUNTRY.

BREVITIES.

Joe Jones is in from Eagleville.
Uncle Tommy Freehill is in town.
Janauscheck will have a crowded house.

Pete Marker is better and gradually improving.
The town presented a lively appearance last evening.

Chase & Thyes have something new behind the counter. It is good.
Dr. Bergmon went below last night, but will return Monday morning.

Henry Mayenbaum, the Austin lawyer, is in town en route home from Carson.

A splendid stock of fresh garden, field and flower seeds just received at Osburn & Shoemaker's.

S. M. Stenhouse, a Comstock printer, is in town on his way to Eureka to take the Foremanship of the Leader.

Major-General Charles Forman, Superintendent of the Overman mine, was a passenger for the Comstock yesterday morning.

Constable Nash gives notice elsewhere of a horse in the city pound, which the owner can have by proving property and paying charges.

Norcross is now the lively flea of the stock market. It sold at $5 per share yesterday afternoon. The market, generally, was strong.

The net earnings of the Union Pacific Railroad Company for the quarter ending March 31 were $2,313,245, an increase of $587,901 over the same time last year.

John Christenson was found dead on a public road in Douglas county last Wednesday. He was run over by his wagon. He was a native of Sweden and aged 32 years. He had friends in this county.

The Austin Revelle on Wednesday celebrated his twentieth birthday. It gives a long and interesting history of his existence. Under the management of Mr. John W. Madrell the Revelle has improved wonderfully within the past three months.

Bad People from Reno.

Last Saturday night, says the Virginia Footlight, Constable Ballard and officer Linnehan arrested a man known as Sacramento Bill, on D street, on a charge of robbery. The same officers on Sunday night arrested a woman named Agnes Miller, at the same place, as an accessory. The charge against this couple is brought by a gentleman of the Smith persuasion, who alleges that while visiting the house of the fair Agnes he was robbed of a watch and considerable money. The parties were examined by Judge Pomeroy last Monday evening. Both of the parties charged with the robbery are well-known to the police, having skipped into this town from Reno about three weeks ago, at which latter place they had been charged with robbery, but escaped conviction. The man who claimed to have been robbed in Reno said he had lost a gold watch worth $150, and about $100 in coin. It is evident that Sacramento Bill and Miss Agnes Miller are not valuable acquisitions to any well regulated community, and not particularly desired in Virginia at the present time.

Proposed Reduction of Running Time.

No agreement has yet been reached concerning the proposed reduction in the running time of overland trains between San Francisco and Omaha. The Union Pacific Railroad has proposed a reduction of twelve hours, but if any reduction be made, it will probably be six hours. The great difficulty in bringing about reductions in the running time lies in the fact that the eating stations will be, as it is termed, thrown out of gear. It is expected that some agreement will be reached soon. The Union Pacific road has not yet determined upon a time table.

Notice.

Reno Guard, Co. C., attention! All members are ordered to appear at their Armory on Monday evening, May 21st, 1883, in full uniform for street drill. By order of

T. F. LAYCOCK, Commanding.
E. C. MCLELLAN, Orderly Sergt.

Ten Drinks for a Dollar.

In order to accommodate the demand for small change the First National Bank has just received $500 in dimes from the Philadelphia Mint, so that Reno is now well provided with short bits and all of the mintage of 1883.

Nothing more is said about the cadetship. It looks as though Cassidy had made the appointment, since he doesn't say anything either way.—Austin Democrat.

JANAUSCHEK.

Her Presentation of "Mary Stuart" far Surpasses the Most sanguine Expectations.

"To gild refined gold, to paint the lily,
To throw a perfume on the violet,
Is wasteful and ridiculous excess."

And to speak even the highest praise of an actress possessing the ability of Madame Janauscheck were to commit almost a similar folly. "Mary Stuart" was given at Salt Lake last Monday evening, and as this is the piece selected for Reno for next Tuesday night, our readers will enjoy what the Chronicle says of its rendition at Salt Lake. It says: "Since Rachael and Charlotte Cushman have passed away, no one on either continent has so fitly donned the ermine of the histrionic throne as she who brought before the large and select audience gathered at the Opera House last evening the living impersonation of the beautiful, accomplished, but most unhappy princess, Mary Stuart, Queen of Scots. Every line uttered was a study, and every look and gesture a volume. Her stately form, majestic tread, determined air and her decided manner, made her appear ever inch a queen. She bears with resignation and fortitude the indignities heaped upon her by Elizabeth, but when they meet in the woods at Fotheringay, and insults are again heaped on Queen Mary, she can no longer restrain her pent-up passion, and proclaims Elizabeth a bastard and herself Queen of England, in a manner that thrills to the core. The acting in this particular scene took the house by storm, and her dignified bearing at this climax impressed the audience with the real superiority of the genius before them. Madame Janauscheck's strangest and most striking quality is her wonderful power of invective and scorn. Her very look, without the utterance of a word, is at times withering, and her piercing glance seem to look into the deepest and darkest recesses of the human heart. Her power of facial expression is truly remarkable, and every shade and degree of contempt and scorn is depicted with an accuracy that only genius, tutored by years of patient and careful study, can acquire. The closing scene, in which she bids farewell to her associates and forgives the knavish Earl of Leicester, is full of sublime pathos, and she goes to lay her head upon the block with the dignity of a queen and the resignation of a martyr. The curtain fell all too soon for the audience, who during the entire play sat entranced and enraptured.

Miss Ada Monk as Queen Elizabeth evinced decided talent, while the Sir Edward Mortimer of Alex. H. Stuart, and the Earl of Leicester of George D. Chaplin, were worthy of the highest commendation. The acting of these gentlemen was very finished and painstaking, and the self-destruction and death-fall of Mr. Stuart was very realistic and decidedly well done. The support throughout was good, and our citizens are to be congratulated at the opportunity presented them during the entire week of listening to first-class artists interpret the works of the celebrated dramatists."

The Reservation.

[Walker Lake Bulletin.]

It may be said that the clamor to have the Walker River Reservation abandoned is prompted by selfishness, but the fact remains that it should be abandoned. The Government sustains two reservations for a small tribe of Indians who live almost wholly outside. Very few of the Plutes care for their reservations. They make a more comfortable living around the mining camps in this State and Eastern California. If being a useless expense to the Government is not a good and sufficient reason for throwing Walker Lake open, the reason is certainly made strong enough when added to it is the fact that the lake fisheries could then be utilized, the mineral in the mountains within the boundaries of the reservation would be free to prospectors, and a large tract of some of the best land in the State, now lying idle, would be made productive.

If taking from the Indians those rights which are of no benefit to them would inflict a hardship on any one, the measure would not be urged; but as they would in reality find their condition greatly improved if the white people were permitted to avail themselves of the natural resources of the country, it is simply sheer nonsense for the Government to expend money in maintaining something which does nothing but retard the development of the country.

No one acquainted with the acquired habits of the Plutes will deny that should the tract now reserved be thrown open to the whites, in a year many more Indians would be living on it than there are now. They would collect around the mining camps, fisheries and ranches, and occasionally assisting the whites, receive enough to eat and wear. The fisheries would employ many of them at congenial work, and in all respects their condition would be improved proportionately with the advantages which accrue to the whites.

Weak lungs, spitting of blood, consumption, and kindred affections, cured without physician. Address for treatise, with two stamps, World's Dispensary Medical Association, Buffalo, N. Y.

You can buy a first-class sewing machine twenty-five per cent. cheaper at Osburn & Shoemaker's than elsewhere in the State.

IS HE INSANE?

A Man who is Believed to be Sane Sent to the Reno Asylum.

The Austin Democrat, of Wednesday, publishes the annexed:

Several persons who talked with the Italian from Ophir Canyon who was lately committed to the Asylum for the Insane, at Reno, several days since, and who was taken there by Sheriff Dunlap yesterday, incline to the opinion that the man is not insane at all. The poor fellow claims to be the owner of a large quantity of wood in Ophir Canyon, and his insanity appears to lie chiefly in his desire to get his pay for it. It is true that he has been examined by physicians, as the law directs, but the medical men are just as apt to be mistaken as any one else. It would be a terrible crime if a sane man has been committed to the asylum, and while we make no pretensions to be experts on the subject of insanity, yet it is believed that such has been the case in this instance. At all events, when he reaches Reno, it is to be hoped that the physicians there, who make insanity a specialty, will make a thorough investigation into his real condition, and without fear or favor decide whether he is a proper subject for incarceration in a mad-house. Such things as sane people being put into asylums in order to get them out of the way have frequently occurred, and if—as is claimed in this case—it is a job put up to defraud him of his just rights we hope that it will not succeed. The man cannot speak English, and consequently could not converse with the physicians who examined him here. This is no reason why he should have been adjudged insane. To those who conversed with him in his mother tongue a day or so since he spoke and acted quite rationally. The editor of this paper had quite a long conversation with the man, in the French language, and came to the conclusion that he was perfectly compos mentis, and would have endeavored to obtain his release on a proper writ, but the District Judge demonstrated its uselessness.

Let there be a searching investigation into his condition, and if he is not insane let him not only have his freedom, but let the parties who caused his incarceration be punished for their atrocious crime. Nevada does not propose to be disgraced by such Tewksbury proceedings, and the Democrat stands ready to expose all such rotteness.

The Styles in Gloves.

Matching gloves to the dress is entirely out of fashion for both day and evening toilets. Lighter shades of tan-colored gloves than those worn during Winter are used with Spring costumes for the street and on full-dress occasions. There is also a tendency to more yellow shades of tan-color, showing scrub rather than brown. Slate-color in various shades is offered as a rival to tan-colors with street dresses, while pale blue and flesh pink are seen with evening dresses, not, however, matching the dress in color, but more often in contrast with it. White undressed kid gloves are again in good style with evening dress at dinners, the opera, ball and receptions. Black kid gloves are less used with dressy toilets than they were last year. The Suede (undressed kid) gloves are more fashionable than those of dressed kid, and these retain the loose-wristed shapes closed on the arm and fastened by two or three buttons at the wrist. These are made very plain, entirely without any ornamental stitching, and with wool dresses of fine French cashmere are by no means confined to color, for when of the exquisite black cashmeres and Henrietta cloths combined with white moire or white Ottoman silk, and trimmed with lace, these are among the most refined and costly dresses made by Worth. The cashmere forms the short basque and the overskirt, which is caught up on the back of the basque, while the white moire is used for the flat front and side breadths, and for the vest, which is shaped triangularly at the top, widening toward the darts, and sloped narrowly to the waist. Heavily rebbed white Sicilienne is used for the vests, collar lining and cuffs of fine black Henrietta cloths, and jet ornaments and French lace complete the trimming. The useful fashion of wearing an inexpensive black cashmere polonaise with any black silk or satin skirt the wearer may have is also revived; the beauty of such polonaises consists in their fine fabric and fit, with very full drapery across the hips. For plain black wool suits the skirt is also of wool in large plaits bordered near the foot with one wide band of velvet or three narrower rows of velvet ribbon.

Secure your seats at once for Madame Janauscheck's performance. The house is certain to be crowded.

TAPIoca CREAM SOUP.—One quart clear soup stock, a pint of rich milk or cream, two stalks of celery, a small onion, one-third of a teaspoon of tapioca previously soaked over night, butter size of an egg, a pinch of mace, pepper and salt to taste. Chop onion and celery and cook twenty minutes with mace and milk; then strain into stock to which tapioca has been added and cooked an hour previous.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? If so, send at once and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething. Its value is incalculable. It will relieve the poor little sufferer immediately. Depend upon it, mothers, there is no mistake about it. It cures dysentery and diarrhoea, regulates the stomach and bowels, cures wind colic, softens the gums, reduces inflammation, and gives tone and energy to the whole system. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup for Children Teething is pleasant to the taste, and is the prescription of one of the oldest and best female physicians and nurses in the United States, and is for sale by all druggists throughout the world. Price 25 cents a bottle. feb. 21-sw-1-yr.

TO THE CITIZENS OF RENO.

I HAVE BEEN A RESIDENT OF YOUR town for three years, and outside of my own business have not seen a decent pair of boots that were made here. In order, therefore, to extend to everyone facilities for obtaining really first-class boots and shoes, I have sent to San Francisco for two A. No. 1 mechanics, the best to be found in the country, and shall run (as heretofore) a prime first-class shop. This enlargement of my stock and facilities will entail heavy extra expense, and I look and trust, therefore, to Reno's citizens, and all the people generally desirous of obtaining the very best of workmanship, to aid me with their increased patronage. First-class material, first-class workmen and first-class work, at living rates, is the motto of my coat of arms inscribed on the banner floating from my castle walls.
